PUPILS ARE ENGAGED

William J. Foster of Monessen and Miss Mamie Stetsman of Mishawaka, Ind., are said to be engaged to be married.

They became acquainted in the class room of the Phillips Bible Institute, Canton, Ohio. They worked together last winter and spring in a series of evangelistic meetings. They will be graduated in the class of 1915.

Monongahela Boys in League.

President John Jenkins of the Monongahela Valley league announces that he has signed Mike McGinty of Monongahela as an umpire in the valley league. Mike's work in the valley league will not interfere with his umpiring of the Monongahela games. Hugh McGinty has signed with Charleroi and is playing third base when the local team is not playing.

Police Force is Enlarged

California Folk of Opinion
That There is Not Enough of Him

The police force at Charleroi is to be doubled August 1. Another policeman will be added. Though over six feet tall and of corresponding husky physical proportions, the police force has proven too small for the normal town. H. B. Lake has been it. In addition to being the police force he has been the chief of police, constable and a business man of California. In making arrests he has had everything his way. The chief of police issued orders to the police force and then carried out the orders. If it was necessary to have a constable the chief of police and police force issued a call and the three-force performed "his duty."

Army Worms Easily
Banished Says Postmaster Smith

GIVES HIS FORMULA

Postmaster J. K. Smith has come to the rescue of people whose lawns are being despoiled. He gives a formula that is used largely by zoologists, not only in ridding their lawns of these pests, but also for driving them and other kind of worms from trees and other vegetation. His formula consists of one and one-half pounds of powdered arsenate of lead mixed in 50 gallons of water, or three pounds of paste arsenate of lead mixed with 50 gallons of water. This, he states, should be sprinkled in an ordinary sprinkling can over the lawn.

A number of local residents who have suffered from inroads of the army worm have exterminated them simply by dusting their lawns with Paris green.

SECORA INQUEST TO BE HELD ON NEXT TUESDAY

Coroaner James T. Heffran has set Tuesday of next week as the time for holding an inquest into the death of Charles Secora, who died as the result of a self-inflicted gunshot wound at Vesta 5, Monday evening. He was shot while being pursued by officers after he had defied arrest and shot one of the officers, inflicting a slight flesh wound on the arm. There seems to be some question as to whether he shot himself accidentally or intentionally.

Deane Grand Opera Company To Appear in Sunday Sacred Concert

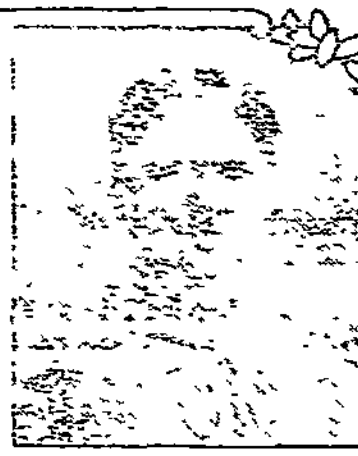

Mr. Arthur Deane.

Mrs. Bel. G. Wooster.

Miss Adelaide Lewis.

Mr. Francis Hughes.

Sunday's offerings at the Chautauqua tent on Meadow avenue will be entirely of a sacred nature. The Deane Grand Opera company, known the country over, will present a program of selections from the oratorios instead of grand opera. Arthur Deane, who was brought to America from Australia by Henry Savage, is the leader and basso of the company. He is a man who has sung with Melba and Caruso. Mrs. Bel. G. Wooster, soprano, possesses an exceptional voice of wide range and Miss Adelaide Lewis, contralto, is a singer who has won the praise of the critical musical journals of the country. Francis Hughes is the tenor and he possesses a full, round tenor voice of fine quality. Otto Wolf is a pianist. Their operatic work this season the quartet is singing the "Garden Scene" from "Faust." They will sing the prelude concert. Sunday afternoon previous to the lecture by Judge Marcus Kavanaugh, and in the evening will present a program of selections from some of the best sacred oratorios.

REGIMENTAL BAND PLEASES LARGE CHAUTAUQUA CROWD

Herald as one of the biggest attractions on the entire Reapath Chautauqua account. The Sands Regimental band, under direction of William A. Sands, appeared Friday in two big concerts at the Chautauqua tent on Meadow avenue. Wonderfully good programs were presented both afternoon and evening. With the band as soloist appeared Miss Fanchon Eastman, a soprano soloist of more than ordinary ability.

The evening concert was heard by a large crowd that filled the tent in spite of sultry heat and a threatening downpour. The evening program was inaugurated by the band with a rendition of the William Tell overture that was played with a spirit that was characteristic. In this composition the real musicianship of bandmen, and the ability of their conductor, Mr. Sands showed forth to best advantage. Two encore numbers were demanded.

During the first part of the program the band presented numbers of a varied nature to satisfy all tastes, ranging from the best of the classics down to the lively near-ragtime popular jingles of the day. One of the feature numbers rendered by special request was that of the Liszt Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2. It won eager applause. It was in the second part of the program that the avul chorus was featured. It was well rendered. An exceedingly clever arrangement of the Foster song, "My Old Kentucky Home," in which the pleasing theme was carried through all the variations through the use of various instruments, was much enjoyed. From the opera "Il Trovatore," a section was pleasingly rendered and the solo parts were capably handled.

Miss Eastman appeared just once when she sang an Italian aria. She followed this with an encore number well suited to her voice, and for an encore number to this rendered Carle Jacobs-Bond's "A Perfect Day." Miss Eastman in her vocal work showed the result of long and careful training.

This morning at the Chautauqua the last of the morning boy scout meetings was held, and a training hour enjoyed by the newly formed organization under direction of the boy scout master, E. W. Armstrong.

Miss Bertha Pratt King lectured on "The Crowded World." This afternoon will be a big feature afternoon. The Schumann Ladies quartet will render the prelude concert and Congressman Walter M. Chandler of New York city will deliver his lecture on "The Trial of Jesus Christ From a Lawyer's Standpoint." Congressman Chandler is rated as a lecturer of exceptional ability and one well qualified to take the place of Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma, who was detained from coming, by congressional duty.

Tomorrow the end of the Chautauqua will be at hand. In the afternoon the Deane Grand Opera company will render a prelude concert and Judge Marcus A. Kavanaugh, a Superior Court judge of Chicago, Ill., will speak on "Traitors to Justice." In the evening a program of selections from the great oratorios will be rendered.

ENTERTAIN SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS BY TRIP TO COUNTRY

Superintendent D. G. Callahan and Mrs. Callahan entertained E. L. Sears' Sunday school class from Belle Vernon Friday at Fallowfield stop on the new Westside Electric company's line.

Mr. Callahan took the party out in one of the new cars which will be used on this line when the schedule is put into effect.

MANY AMUSEMENTS ALONG THE VALLEY DURING THE WEEK

During the last week this vicinity has had almost a superabundance of entertainment. The offerings at Eldora park were the only regular offerings of the week. At Monessen, Monongahela and Charleroi, Chautauquas were in progress. Then at New Eagle and Monessen carnivals were held. Of the different nature slightly from any of these was the bathing beach at Charleroi.

BATHING BEACH IMPROVEMENTS NEAR COMPLETION

There will be no bathing tomorrow at the bathing beach. Sunday bathing will not be allowed. Several improvements have recently been made at the local bathing beach. A fence has been erected separating the bathing pool for the children from the pool in which the older people bathe. White sand has been spread on the beach and the women's bathhouse is nearing completion.

Prof. Allen accompanied by the Rodgers Concert band will dive from the highest point on the river bridge into the Monongahela river—Monongahela Times. They'll drown the music.

The New Yorker who married an amiss woman might have sufficient cause to remember some time in the distant future that she is not fool-less.

ASSEMBLY ASSURED

Arrangements Under Way to Hold Chautauqua Here Next Year

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

Dr. H. J. Repman to Head Committee—Many Guarantors Secured

A Chautauqua next year for Charleroi seems assured. To date between 200 and 1,000 tickets have been pledged, officers elected and a number of guarantors secured. At the Friday evening session of the Chautauqua cards were signed signifying the intention of hundreds to take tickets for next year's entertainments. Afterwards at a meeting of a number of men interested in the movement the following officers were elected: President, Dr. H. J. Repman; vice president, W. S. James, Dr. Edwin McKay; secretary, Dr. T. M. Faddis; treasurer, W. D. Pollock; members of executive committee, Prof. I. T. Daniel and A. H. Bosson. The entire executive committee will consist of the corps of officers and the two especially named.

This morning Superintendent Orrin C. Lester of the Charleroi Chautauqua and Prof. I. T. Daniel were busy securing the names of guarantors for next year's Chautauqua. The number first mentioned was 50, and this is the number that Superintendent Lester suggested. However an effort will be made to secure at last 150 signers. These men are the ones who guarantee the success of the Chautauqua.

For next year a variety of entertainments the equal of this year's entertainments is promised. An effort is being made by the Redpath-Brockway bureau to establish a number of permanent Chautauquas in Western Pennsylvania and already they have them this year at Uniontown, Brownsville, Monessen, Monongahela, and Charleroi. In this immediate section, in addition to others in other parts of the western end of the state.

WRITING FOR THE PAPER

That publicity agent's overdo in their efforts to extract aid from newspapers in the shape of large press notices is a fact well recognized by news papers. The following is the way in which the Altoona Tribune wisely discusses the matter editorially:

"Some publicity agents would secure a much wider range for their material if they were to practice the happy art of condensation. The writer who can put into a half column what another expends into two or three columns is more likely to attract the attention of the editor than his long-winded colleague. The day has passed when very long articles are much sought after either by editors or readers.

"Every day the Tribune is offered sufficient matter from outside sources to fill several pages. Many of these productions deal with topics of general interest. When they are of sufficient brevity and space is available. We are glad to give them publicity. Many however are from one to three columns long and however vital the topics they discuss they can be published very rarely. Their authors miss the mark by lack of brevity.

"We are also in receipt of a large number of articles from various political headquarters. These are particularly in their nature and are written directly from the standpoint of the candidates whose friends have organized papers with their efforts. Only a very few of these will be published. When they deal with news pure and simple we will be glad to find space for the shorter ones; when they glorify one of the parties in which the Tribune has no faith they will find a resting place in the waste paper basket. Their authors might as well save postage.

"We seldom display any enthusiasm over the various 'causes' each of which has a well paid general secretary behind it. We are quite confident that some of these propagandas would never have been born if it had not been for the ambition of some unctuous individual to land a job in which our friend George Washington Lighthouse would have delighted because it involves no 'heavy lifting.' It is always a pleasure to decline to aid in the circulation of matter intended to expand the influence of such 'causes.' We recognize the existence of many worthy societies, properly supported and known by what they have done; all such we are glad to aid.

"The business of preparing and sending special matter to the newspapers in the interest of all sorts of schemes is being overdone. Not that the papers are using it. The majority of our exchanges have evidently ignored it; but that does not discourage the authors and vendors of this kind of news. Evidently it is their business to prepare it for the press; there their responsibility ends.

NATIONAL PIKE IMPROVEMENT BY STATE CERTAIN

The National Pike, or Cumberland road, leading through the county is to be resurfaced and culverts, bridges and drains repaired. The work today was started and will be rushed through rapidly. The recent decision of the authorities to permit the automobile license fund to be used on the roads has created quite a sensation. The license fund must be confined to the maintenance department and no new roads can be constructed from it.

Engineer Alex Gray of the Washington state highway office made a preliminary trip over the road Friday afternoon and deciding upon what work will be needed and the force of men required. It could not be stated how many men would be employed to complete the work. A small squad is at work on the Beallsville road and this squad will be used on the Cumberland road.

Considerable work will be done upon the Upper Ten Mile Plank road within a few weeks. It has worn through to the bed in several places and is rough in spots. This road will be resurfaced starting from the Washington end at Park avenue. The cross roads on the pike and plank roads will be worked at the same time as the main highways.

GIRL MEETS AWFUL DEATH ON RAILROAD

Pouline Kovur, the 7 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kovur, of Railroad street, Monongahela was struck by train No. 142, due at Monongahela at 3:29 o'clock. Friday afternoon and so seriously injured that she died at 5 o'clock.

The little girl and a companion had been playing not far from her home on the opposite side of the track. She was heard of hearing, and did not hear the train that was approaching. She started across the tracks at the West alley crossing near the brewery.

Mrs. Stephen Batch who lives near the crossing saw the child, and knew that she was haid of hearing. She tried to save her. The engine struck the child on the shoulder and hurled her a distance of 50 feet against the stone wall in front of the Monongahela brewery. One leg and one arm was broken and her skull fractured.

Coroner James I. Heffran has been notified. He will hold an investigation into the facts connected with the accident.

NO REASON FOR IT

When Charleroi Citizens Show a Way There can be no reason why any reader of this who suffers the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the pains and dangers of kidney ills will fail to heed the words of a neighbor who has found relief. Read what a Charleroi citizen says:

Mrs. Thomas Christopher, 117 Lookout avenue, Charleroi, Pa., says: "About eight years ago one of the family did a lot of heavy lifting and strained his kidneys. He suffered severely from a dull, heavy ache across his back and he got so bad that he couldn't work. He was treated by doctors and tried various remedies, but didn't get much relief. The kidney secretions were discolored and caused much annoyance. He was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and he did so. The first few doses brought him relief and one box cured him. I have nothing to retract from the statement I gave, recommending Doan's Kidney Pills some time ago. You may continue using my name."

AMONG THE THEATRES

LYRIC-CHARLEROI

Home Run Haggerty's only up-to-date rival in point of remarkable accomplishments was seen at the Lyric theatre this week in a production entitled "Home Run Baker's Double." This picture showing accomplishments of the most noted member of Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics, and weaving into the story of his double a most exquisite and enjoyable tale of heart interest happenings, was one of the best two reel pictures of the week. Another was "Making Home Over for Minnie." These films together with a two-part attraction, "The Intrigue" were shown the latter part of the week. Earlier in the week Manager Pennman presented good programs of comedy and dramatic numbers. A photoplay "Father's Flirtation," in two parts was a good comedy with the Vitagraph company featuring John Bunny. "Let No Man Escape," was a sensational drama of police and politics presented in two parts. A Selig drama of much interest was exhibited on Monday night in "Two Girls."

COYLE-CHARLEROI

Coyle theatre photoplay attractions this week included the usual seven reels nightly, and plenty of features. Comedy and drama were pleasantly mingled in various programs in the single, double and triple reel presentations. On Monday night a good three-reel picture was presented in "Dead Men's Tales," an Eclair film. On Wednesday night another three reel film was given in "The Mystery of Wickham Hall." On Monday night in two reels "Severed Thong," a Majestic film was presented, together with "The Eavesdropper" and the Mutual Girl film, "Voice at the Phone, No. 2" in two reels, "Widow's Mite" and "Willie Walrus" detective, were three of the Tuesday photoplays. Showing complications of a love affair, "Fatty and the Heiress," in two reels was presented on Wednesday night. "Love and Electricity" was a Joker film on Thursday, holding interest together with "The Old Cobbler," in two reels. "White Slave Catchers," and others.

PALACE-CHARLEROI

When the first two chapters of the startling motion picture production, "The Million Dollar Mystery" were produced at the Palace theatre on Thursday, something entirely new in the photoplay world was seen. The Palace announces the production the most costly and most remarkable ever brought out, and the announcement contains the information that every Thursday for 22 weeks two reel chapters will be shown. Questions as to the happenings to the millionaire, what became of the million dollars as to whom Florence marries and as to what becomes of the heiress are asked, in an effort to effect a solution to the mystery, which will bring to the winner $10,000 as a prize. Monday night was a good picture night at the Palace when Marion Leonard was shown in her sublime production "The Light Unseen," in six reels. This presentation was extraordinary and one that was much appreciated by the Palace audience.

GRAND-PITTSBURG

A Henri Bernstein play is always an attraction extraordinary, but when that play comes with the additional prestige of having been originally presented with enormous success by John Mason, the incentive to see it is more than amplified. It will therefore be welcome news to all players to learn that Mr. Harry Davis has secured from Charles Frohman the rights to produce in the Grand Opera House for one week beginning Monday matinee, July 27 that gripping romantic political drama, "The Attack." Mr. Davis' excellent stock company will interpret it, which is a further reason to anticipate unusual dramatic entertainment. Bernstein is admittedly the greatest of present-day French playwrights. His facile pen has turned out such masterpieces as "The Thief," "Samson," and "Israel," in addition to "The Attack," and he is considered the greatest power in French literature today. When John Mason first played "The Attack" two years ago it was considered a romance of French politics and is built around the activities of a Parisian politician who is on the threshold of being elevated to the highest office in the gift of the ministry. It is the crisis of his life. Into it comes the emotional character of Renee de Roud, which was originated in Mr. Mason's support by Miss Martha Hedman, a young Swedish actress whose reputation on the English speaking stage was established by her striking rendition of this role. It will be played in this instance with the Davis Players by Mr. Davis' brilliant new leading woman, Miss Ada Baker, who joins the company next Monday. This part is really the pivot of the drama. It is a role of intense emotionalism and a commanding figure throughout the entire action. A master of character drawing, Bernstein has made the people of "The Attack" red-blooded human beings that throb and pulsate with the emotions common to humankind the world over. There is nothing namby-pamby or artificial in the people of "The Attack." They are all vital types and each in his way contributes to the play's terrific "punch." Surrounded by Mr. Edward Lynch, Miss Saxone Morland, Mr. Hal de Forest, Mr. W. H. Powell, Mr. Edwin Evans, Mr. Fred C. House and all the other capable principals of the Davis organization, Miss Baker should initiate her stay with a characterisation that will leave its impress upon the minds of theatre-goers.

"CROWDED WORLD" LECTURE THEME FOR MISS KING

Miss Bertha Pratt King's educational lecture at the Redpath Chautauqua this morning was on "The Crowded World." She spoke interestingly of the crowded conditions in the cities and in the world in general.

The crowded world is divided into two classes of people," declared Miss King. "First are those who have all the money they want. In all large cities there are sections where there are mansions and fine residences, and the people living in them have all the comforts of life. The second class are those who are just the opposite, not having the comforts of life. They live in abject poverty in the slums and are wretched human beings. The slums are practically all alike.

"Today it is not true that one half of the world does not know how the other half lives," said Miss King. "In England there are 1,000,000 people living in poverty, and in America 10,000,000 are living in poverty. They are all living crowded into the slums, which are centers of all diseases and crimes. Three-fourths of the people of New York city live in tenements. Three years ago there were 5,000 tenement houses. There are now 40,000.

"A few years ago 500,000 beggars were sent out of New York city. Two years ago there were 10,000 tramps in New York city's standing army. The tenement houses are from four to eight stories, with a dozen families living in each story. In New York city there are 89 children in one tenement and 91 living in another. Several families live in one room separated by chalk lines. In these districts the women do the work. The men as a usual thing spend their time loafing in the saloons. In the 25 cent lodging houses in New York 14,000 homeless men sleep every night. The Salvation Army home shelters 17,000 men every night. The Salvation Army home shelters 17,000 men every night. There are 12,000 homeless boys and girls in New York city."

TESTS OF GROUND ARE SATISFACTORY

The postoffice department at Washington has reported favorably on the samples of strata taken from test holes on the site of the proposed federal building at Monongahela. The school board has 30 days to remove the old school building from the premises from the time of notification. They have received no notice as yet. The old school building may be re-modeled for a municipal building.

CHEWING AN EAR DEADLY INSULT; LAWSUIT RESULTS

It is almost an insult for a man to bite another's ear off, but when it is bitten off in two pieces and then thrown into the owners face, it becomes almost more than an insult, thinks Michael Grier of Monessen.

It seems that on the night of June 21 Grier went to the store of James Blotto was arrested, charged with shoot him because of his breaking off an engagement between his son and Blotto's daughter. A shot was fired and in the melee following Blotto bit off Grier's ear.

Thursday Grier got sick and thought he was going to die. He called in Burgess Dunlap of Monessen to take his dying statement. Blotto was arrested, charged with mayhem by Grier. The case was threshed out before Justice of the Peace Watkins Friday. Blotto was held for court under $200 bail. Dominick Viola who was present and it is said took part in the fight was held for court under $500 bail.
